Hampton, Virginia named to the ‘Where to Go in the South in 2021’ list

Hampton, VA - This is My South has named Hampton, Virginia to the ‘Where to Go in the South in 2021’ list. Looking ahead to the coming months and with safety in mind, the publication featured cities that have plenty of outdoor options for activities and attractions that allow for social distancing.

Hampton made the list because of its more than 400 years of rich history. The article highlights several attractions including Hampton History Museum, the Virginia Air & Space Science Center, and the Fort Monroe National Monument. Locally owned restaurants, The Deadrise, The Vanguard, and Brown Chicken Brown Cow, are also mentioned.

This is My South is a travel guide for all things in the Southern United States, featuring accommodation reviews, restaurant recommendations, and activities for all ages and budgets. Caroline Eubanks, editor of This is My South, visited Hampton in September 2019 and toured Hampton’s heritage sites.

In recent months, several new restaurants have opened in Hampton including Charlotte’s Cafeteria, Fox Tail Wine Bar, and The Baker’s Wife, all located in historic Phoebus. Also, Hampton Roads first Black-owned brewery, 1865 Brewing Co., is slated to open in the near future. The 400 Years Forward program will also debut in 2021 offering African-American heritage programs, tours, and events.
